

ADOPT A MONKEY

At Ireland's first & only sanctuary for unwanted monkeys

Mimmi was cruelly caught in the South American jungle, shipped to a laboratory and locked in a cage. She was kept for breeding. Her offspring and the other monkeys born in the laboratory lived for up to 10 years in small cages. They were confined indoors and could not see the sky, let alone climb trees or run freely.

These laboratory monkeys and four other monkeys from a zoo were all going to be put down unless good, long-term homes could be found for them.

We were able to save the monkeys' lives! Now for the first time they are living FREE on ISLANDS in a tranquil, wooded Sanctuary. Please help us to keep the monkeys safe on their island homes, living contented, worthy lives, free to swing on trees, play with their companions, use aerial walkways to explore other islands and forage for insects as they would in the wild. To give the monkeys a peaceful life the sanctuary is not open to the public.

CHOOSE: Mimmi (18), Toto, Ben, Ciccio (12), Donald, Jack, Reg (11), Ernie (8), Nick (6), Mikey (9), William (21), Clefty, Beryl (12).
